

POLISHING APPARATUS AND RELATED POLISHING METHODS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Polishing apparatus and related methods employ aligned first and second magnetic field sources to adjust the compressive force and/or pressure applied by a carrier head against a target workpiece (such as a wafer) by selectively and controllably generating a repellant or attractive force between the two magnetic field sources.